President’s Report

Mercer International Inc. is a major market pulp producer with mills in Germany and Canada. The Company conducts pulp operations through three subsidiaries: Zellstoff-und Papierfabrik Rosenthal GmbH & Co. KG and its affiliates (“Rosenthal”), a wholly owned subsidiary, which operates a Northern Bleached Softwood Kraft (NBSK) pulp mill near Blankenstein, Germany, Zellstoff Celgar Limited (“Celgar”), a wholly owned subsidiary, which operates a NBSK pulp mill near Castlegar, British Columbia, Canada and Zellstoff Stendal GmbH and its affiliates (“Stendal”), a 63.6% owned subsidiary, which operates a large new NBSK pulp mill near Stendal in northern Germany. Mercer conducts its paper operations through Dresden Papier GmbH (“DP”), which is wholly owned and produces high-value-added specialty papers and printing and writing papers at two mills in Heidenau and Fährbrücke, Germany. The Company’s shares trade on the National Market of the NASDAQ Stock Exchange (“MERC”) and on the Toronto Stock Exchange (“MRI.U”).
In 2005, we at Mercer completed our company’s transformation into a world-class NBSK pulp producer. In our market presence, in the quality of our production assets and in the performance of our mills, our people and our business systems, we are on track to compete, succeed and operate profitably in the global NBSK pulp market. The vision we have been building towards for more than a decade is now reality.
Just two short years ago, Mercer was a mid-sized European pulp and paper company with two paper mills and annual production capacity of 300,000 tonnes of NBSK pulp at Rosenthal, serving regional European markets. Today, with Stendal already producing at well over 80% of its initial rated capacity of 552,000 tonnes/yr and the Celgar mill producing over 400,000 tonnes, our pulp production has more than quadrupled. Our customer base has broadened to embrace the other two principal world pulp markets: North America and East Asia. And the Mercer name is rapidly gaining global respect among pulp users as a guarantee of quality, reliability and service. While Mercer will remain alert to further potential expansion opportunities, our energies are now focused on improving the operational and marketing performance of our business to maximize operating profits.

Consequently, the past year has been one not of rest, certainly, but rather of regularization of business for Mercer. As we grow our organization, our emphasis naturally shifts from the big, bold projects to the special people who make them work on a daily basis, and from the sweeping plans and innovative financing arrangements to the steady, disciplined work of incremental improvement in production, marketing, safety and sustainability. Our rapid growth over these past years has certainly made for exciting times at Mercer. But the real goal, long-term profitability, will depend on the sustainability of our business practices. We recognize this in the efforts we devote every day to waste and emissions reduction, the World Class Safety and Training initiative, sustainable forestry practices and our adherence to the latest ISO and chain-of-custody standards.

Reflecting this change in the focus of our attention, our board and senior management team are more dependent on our people in production and marketing to achieve our key objectives. They continue to work very hard to make our company succeed, and we always look forward to hearing their views about our company. We appreciate their enormous contributions to our success.

Our thanks to them and to our customers and suppliers, and our best wishes to all for a prosperous 2006.

On Behalf of the Board,

Jimmy S.H. Lee,
President and Chairman
From the Lead Director

The Board of Directors is pleased with the organization’s performance in 2005, particularly in light of the significant acquisition and financing activity undertaken during the year. Your board played an active role reviewing management’s plans and strategic initiatives to ensure they remain consistent with our objective of creating a premier global pulp company. We focused on ensuring that the company’s major initiatives generate attractive returns for shareholders without exposing it to unnecessary risk.

While we are pleased with our role in helping management achieve success, we also appreciate the need to remain independent. In this regard, early in 2006 we undertook a comprehensive review of the board’s committees and Terms of Reference. We updated our existing framework and added some new provisions to ensure we continue to meet both regulator and shareholder expectations; these documents can be viewed on the Mercer website.

As Deputy Chairman and Lead Director, my role is to provide leadership so the Board continues to enhance Mercer’s performance. My goal is to ensure the Board achieves the right balance between the need to oversee and assess management and the need to avoid stifling management creativity, so we retain the ability to grow shareholder value.

I thank the directors and management for their efforts this past year. This team worked hard, and showed its ability to function with a strong sense of integrity and corporate responsibility. I also thank our employees in Germany and Canada for their efforts in meeting customer and shareholder expectations. As a board, we look forward to providing independent and constructive advice to management in their efforts to enhance shareholder value in the long term, and we extend our best wishes for further success in 2006.
